Couple's Porsche Stolen

The Claim

Couple's Porsche stolen

After a meal out a couple returned home to find that their son had parked his car in front of the garage so they could not store their £75,000 Porsche in the garage overnight. The couple therefore parked their car on the driveway for the night. The next morning the couple woke to find their beloved car had been stolen from their driveway.

When insuring valuable and prized possessions and high value items it pays off to seek the advice of a specialist broker. At Ascend Executive we are determined to find our clients a policy that suits them the best. It is vital for you to use Ascend Executive before a loss occurs in order that your possessions and properties are covered properly.

What we did:

We arranged for the couple's Porsche to be on the same policy as the family's other vehicles which made life easy for them.

Most insurance companies would only pay-out if the car was stored in a garage, not on the driveway. But we made sure that the policy had all cars insured no matter where they were parked.

This meant that the company received a full pay-out from the insurer when their Porsche was stolen.

Most brokers would not go to the lengths and efforts that we do to ensure that you receive full compensation. We make sure that we understand your needs when finding you a policy.
